Community Supported Agriculture (CSA)

2019 Summer Season

“Live Local, Eat Local, Be Local.”

Grace Brothers, a family-owned business since 1989, is located in North Royalton, Ohio. Our mission is to provide high-quality products with exceptional service. In 2013, as a response to a need for locally-sourced, farm fresh produce in our community, we began offering a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) Program.

What is a CSA? CSA stands for Community Supported Agriculture. The Community Supported Agriculture Program at Grace Brothers unites regional farmers with local consumers on a weekly basis. We work directly with several family-farms and orchards to provide our program members with a variety of just-picked, highly nutritious fruits and vegetables representative of what is available during the growing season in Northern Ohio. Beyond providing our members with great produce, we are also supporting the livelihood of those who work so hard to grow it. Both local and regional communities benefit from this relationship.

Since our beginnings, the program has grown in size and offerings, but our commitment to freshness and high-quality remains the same. We are excited to cultivate our local and regional food communities and look forward to many more seasons to come.

The Contents of Your Share:

Our CSA program brings together a collection of fruits and vegetables straight from the farm to your dinner table. Working together with 10-15 farms and orchards total, we provide a diverse selection of fresh and nutritious produce. Approximately one-third of our offerings are Certified Organic. All come from no more than 70 miles away from our nursery in North Royalton.

Farm produce in the shares will consist of a variety of fruits and vegetables as they become available for harvest during the growing season. Availability of produce will reflect northern Ohio’s weather and growing conditions for the 2019 season.

Here is a sampling of produce you may see during the duration of the program. Program members who select the Family and Traditional Share sizes will receive cage-free eggs in addition to their produce.
